Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

AB 258 regulates operators of Internet sites that publish criminal records. Currently, operators may charge a person a fee to remove such information from their Web site. Under this bill, if the operator receives a written request, the operator would have 15 days to remove the information and may not charge a fee if one of four conditions is met. Violation of these requirements could be subject to a fine of up to $10,000, imprisonment for up to nine months, or both.

The Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP) believes this would not have a fiscal effect because DATCP would not have authority to enforce the law.
